The SJC Institution's Innovation Council in Association with Innovation & Entrepreneurship Development Cell Organized “INNOPRENE” an Interdepartmental Innovation and Entrepreneurship Competition on 10.01.2023 (Tuesday) in offline mode. The competition was organized by Mr.A.Albert Ravi, Assistant Professor, Department of Commerce, Dr.P.Arul Prasad Department of Commerce, IEDC co-coordinator and Dr. H. Jude Leonard Hilary, Department of Physics, Co-coordinator of IIC.

Objective of the event:

- To provide opportunity to showcase the innovative and entrepreneurial competency of students.
- To understand the innovation methodology, framework & build on skills and tools.
- To perform brain storming and ideation session.
- To prepare the students with skills like critical thinking, design thinking, innovative thought process and entrepreneurial mindset.
- Introduce students to the fundamentals of entrepreneurship, including identifying opportunities, developing business models, and assessing market potential.

The competition was aimed to provide students with a platform to showcase their entrepreneurial competence, allowing them to present their innovative business ideas and provide them with an opportunity to turn their ideas into successful business ventures. The competition had two categories: Innovation and Entrepreneurship. In the innovation category, the participants were required to submit plans for products or services that addressed a specific problem or need in the market. In the entrepreneurship category, the participants were required to submit plans for new or existing businesses that were innovative and had the potential to scale-up. The competition helped the students gain practical experience in developing the business plans and presenting them to the judges.

The competition received an excellent response from the students, participating from different departments. The business plans were evaluated based on various criteria, including feasibility, innovation and commercial viability. The students presented their ideas in the form of power point presentation. They express their ideas relevantly in the their field of specialisation.

The competition was open to all the students of the department, and a total of 15 teams participated in the competition.

“Participants expressing their novel ideas with presentation”

Outcomes of the event:

The competition was a grand success, providing an excellent opportunity for students to showcase their entrepreneurial and innovative competence. The competition provided students with an opportunity to expose their ideas and receive valuable guidance from the juries. The competition received positive feedback from the students, faculty members, and judges. The participants learned how to develop business ideas and innovative projects, present them effectively, and respond to questions. This competition has given students the confidence towards an entrepreneurial pursuit.
